SIX-DAY BICYCLE RACE.

International Affair Under Way In New York City.

New York, Dec. 5.-Amid a roar of applause from nearly 20,000 spectators in Madison Square Garden, the contestants in the twelfth international six-day bicycle race responded to the crack of the starter's pistol, fired by Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan, at exactly five minutes after midnight

Monday morning. The garden was thronged for an hour of more before the start and when the champions lined up every inch of room in the great building was occupied. A large force of police was present and perfect order was maintained. The foreign contingent this year is the largest that has ever started in the race and it was the general opinion of the experts who witnessed the start that the native champions will have a hard time in holding their own. Eighteen teams started from the mark.

RUSSIANS AND JAPS FOUGHT DES-PERATELY FOR POSSESSION

OF 203-METER HILL

ADMIT THAT CAPTURE OF THE

POSITION ENTAILED VERY HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE.

Tokio, Dec. 5.-The diary of the fighting around 203-Meter hill, which is published in the Japanese papers, describes the terrible losses involved in the storming of the Russian position from dawn of Nov. 28 till 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day. A Winter Apples Russian counter attack began at dawn on Nov. 29, and was so furiously pushed that the Japanese were compelled to retire from both sides of the hill into the valley. The attack was renewed the morning of Nov. 30, when all the Japanese reserves came up" from the southwestern corner; but these assailants only advanced thirty meters by 5 o'clock, so stubborn was the resistance and the Japanese suffered severe losses. Then, being reinforced, the Japanese main tained the struggle with terrible earnestness. Furious charges were repeatedly made and the Russians 80 were compelled gradually to retire. The southwestern summit of the hill was not occupied until 7 o'clock in the evening and the northwestern summit not until 8 o'clock. During the night six Russian counter attacks were repulsed. One, which was launched at 4 o'clock in the morning, was characterized by several bayonet attacks, and was persisted in until noon of Dec. 1, when, the hopelessness of the attempts becoming evident, the Russians retired.

REPORT LACKS CONFIRMATION. But Russians Believe Japs Have Lost

St. Petersburg, Dec. 5.—Neither the admiralty nor the war office is able to confirm a report from Chefoo that Japanese have been unable to hold 203-Meter hill, but this news is quite in accordance with expectations. Experts here are convinced that the apture of 203-Meter hill will be of no advantage to the Japanese unless they can gain possession of the neighbor-

Order Made Effective Dec. 12.

The order of Secretary Taft is to be ineffective unless. Panama shall put into effect the gold standard, according to the currency agreement of June 20, 1904. The order is made effective Dec. 12, 1904.

The fire is thought to have been caused by a spark from a coal stove setting fire to the carpet which Mrs.

Perry was cleaning with gasoline. The first thing known about the fire was when flames were seen issuing from the front door of the house. Neighbors who watched the fire from its start, said never a sound or cry or moan issued from the house on fire Mrs. Perry, from her position on the floor when found, seemed to have been rendered unconscious instantly and then became prey to the flames. Harmer was found at her side and Charles was near the door. He evidently had made an effort to escape, his little, weak body was unable to withstand the onslaught of flames and smoke.

"So have we this afternoon put aside with sad hearts and tear dimmed eyes, have met in this lodge of sorrow to pay our fraternal tribute of respect to the memory of our departed brothers. Not to the dead, can add anything to their virtues, but because it softens the hearts of the living and fills their minds with thoughts of the future life.

"Pleasure, veiled by sadness, is the inspiration of a sacred duty I would not shun, for we stand in the afterglow of lives whose memories are dear to us all. When the great orb of day sinks in the dark waves of night, it is not only the recollection of its noonday splendor that organization; the chilling blasts of entrances the mind, but more, it is the afterglow that lingers behind and bathes the forest and the vales with cerulian light. So when the lives of our friends come to their setting, it is in the radiance, in the memory, it leaves behind we receive its living splendor. An ended life that does not leave this radiance, this memory, behind, is a life lived worse than in vain. They, dying, do not carry the influence of their characters with them into eternity, but they leave it on this side of the river, either to encourage or discourage the living. And as we here today extoll the virtues of the dead, we also invoke the mantle of charity to hide from us their faults, ed from the Book of Life. for faults, no doubt, they had, as we all |

Brainerd lodge had the misfortune to lose one of its number during the past year, Judge J. G. This makes a total of seven deaths in the order since organization, the names of all appearing at the head of this column.

The opera house was packed yesterday afternoon with the families of the Elks and their friends and the services opened with a processional march, "Elks of America," by the Elks' orchestra. Prayer was offered by Rev. William J. Moody, of St. Paul's Episcopal church, after which the Æolian quartette gave a response in a very impressive manner. our usual Sabbath day keeping and, with sad hearts and tear dimmed eyes, have met in this lodge of sorrow to pay our fraternal tribute of respect to the memory of our departed brothers. Not that this custom, which dedicates a day to the dead, can add anything to their virtues, but because it softens the hearts of the living and fills their minds with thoughts of the future life.

"Pleasure, veiled by sadness, is the inspiration of a sacred duty I would not shun, for we stand in the afterglow of lives whose memories are dear to us all. When the great orb of day sinks in the dark waves of night, it is not only the recollection of its noonday splendor that entrances the mind, but more, it is the afterglow that lingers behind and bathes the forest and the vales with cerulian light. So when the lives of our friends come to their setting, it is in the radiance, in the memory, it leaves behind we receive its living splendor. An ended life that does not leave this radiance, this memory, behind, is a life lived worse than in vain. They, dying, do not carry the influence of their characters with them into eternity, but they leave it on this side of the river, either to encourage or discourage the living. And as we here today extoll the virtues of the dead, we also invoke the mantle of charity to hide from us their faults, for faults, no doubt, they had, as we all

FOR THE PUBLIC GOOD

The Information Contained in this Citizen's Statement is Invaluable to Brainerd People.

When a resident of Brainerd, whose statement appears below, who has no monetary or other interest in the article which he endorses, who is anxious to do his acquaintances and fellow residents a good turn, who publishes in this paper his experience with Doan's Kidney Pills-that citizen must have good and sufficient reason for doing so. The following should dispel any doubts which may have existed in the reader's mind

J. Hagadorn, of 123 Ninth St. north, says: "For thirty years I had more or less trouble with my kidneys. Some at tacks laid me up, while during others my back ached so severely that I could not sleep at night nor work during the day. On many occasions I could not stand and talk to a man for two or three minutes without suffering with twinges across the small of my back which radiated toward the shoulders. As time passed by the complaint became more pronounced and difficulty with the kidnev secretions set in. As might be expected I tried everything when the attacks occurred to check them, but if I had met with any marked degree of success I never would have resorted to Doan's Kidney Pills. When suffering severely I went to a drug store and got a box. I expected the results would be similar to those obtained by using other preparations. In twenty four hours I changed my mind. I noticed they were acting totally different to anything hitherto tried and encouraged I kept on with the treatment until I finished two boxes. Now I may have recurrences, but at the present moment, and it is some time since I stopped the treatment, I have not a symptom of my old complaint. To anyone interested I will be only too pleased to give minuter details and substantiate the above statement in a personal interview."
